RE: Course Deletion of History 6500. Introduction to Modern Ideology

The Department of History, Philosophy and Political proposes the deletion of History 6500: Introduction to Modern Ideology

Rationale for Change:

The Department of History, Philosophy and Political Science is proposing to delete a series of world history courses that have not been taught for years. HIS 32: Introduction to Modern Ideology was last taught in 2008. The Department has no faculty members with expertise in this area and do not believe the course could be successfully offered in the foreseeable future.
